Linsey Farrell Programme Director,
Urban Villages Initiative, The Executive Office

Welcome to this first edition of the Urban Villages FOCUS Magazine. I am excited to share with you some of the great work that people in the Urban Village communities are doing, not only to make a difference in their own lives but also to impact on others who live, work and visit their areas.

The aims of the Urban Villages Initiative are, to strengthen communities by helping to build capacity and increase sustainability, to improve the area by investing in regeneration of places and spaces and to foster positive community identity so that ultimately people can live better together.

You will read about fantastic projects and programmes that are led by community groups and participants to support these aims; you will also find out about the Shared Learning events where groups will showcase their great achievements with others.

We want to give people in Urban Village communities the chance to be part of shaping the place where they live, to increase their skills and to embrace opportunities that will improve their life chances.

To recognise the range of fantastic projects that are already underway in communities, you can nominate your favourite project for an Urban Villages Award and you can read more about this inside.

People are working together in and across Urban Village areas and we are keen to encourage this and build on it for the benefit of everyone across the five Urban Village areas.

I hope you find our new FOCUS Magazine informative and we would really encourage you to get involved in the projects and plans in your area.

We will be issuing it three times a year so if you would like to receive copies and be kept up to date on the work of the Urban Villages Initiative in your area, please use the contact details at the back of this issue to join our mailing list.

What is the Urban Villages Initiative?

The Urban Villages Initiative is designed to improve good relations outcomes and develop thriving places where there has been a history of deprivation and community tension.

The Urban Villages Initiative is a headline action within the NI Executive's Together: Building a United Community Strategy.

It is designed to support communities and to work collaboratively across government departments, councils, and other interested parties to achieve the 3 inter-connected aims for each Urban Village area through a series of capital investment and community-led projects.

THERE ARE 3 INTER-CONNECTED AIMS

WHAT DOES THE URBAN VILLAGES INITIATIVE DO?

Through the Urban Villages Initiative, the Northern Ireland Executive offers a real opportunity for residents of Urban Village areas to inform and shape the development of the place where they live and work; to have a voice and influence investment, to build social cohesion and improve local amenities, based on what communities see as their local priorities.

The Urban Villages Initiative has conducted extensive community engagement across all five Urban Village areas with local residents, community organisations and other stakeholders. This has informed the development of a Strategic Framework for each area. These remain the foundation of area based plans for these places.

Uniting Colin and EastSide Programme

UNITING COMMUNITIES PROGRAMME

Colin Glen Trust and TIDES training are currently working in partnership to deliver the 'Uniting Colin and EastSide Programme' which is funded through the Department for Communities (DfC) and based in Urban Village areas.

This good relations programme aims to engage young people aged 11-16 in sport, physical and creative activities that bring communities together and improve attitudes of young people in relation to other religious, political, ethnic and marginalised communities. The programme also includes a youth leadership element involving 16-24 year olds.

Colm Fanning, Social Development Manager at Colin Glen Trust said "In September we had nearly 170 young people from the Urban Village areas of Colin and EastSide in Belfast engaged in fun and participative activities in Castlewellan Forest Park as part of the Community Relations and Cultural Awareness Week programme.

This event is part of the Uniting Colin and EastSide programme and we plan to promote good relations messages and promote understanding and respect among our young people"

Fergus Devitt Director of Active Communities Division in DfC said "The central focus of this programme is to recognise the role that young people can and do play in building a united community. The Uniting Colin & EastSide programme aims to use innovative ways to build good relations between communities."

Linsey Farrell, Programme Director, Urban Village Initiative, said

"It is great to be working collaboratively with the Department for Communities on this project, we are delighted that the Uniting Colin and EastSide programme is being rolled out in Urban Village areas, where the focus is on building the capacity of young people, giving them a voice and supporting them to make positive plans about living better together."

Streets Alive Programme Celebrates Successful Summer - Féile 2017

The Urban Villages Initiative is supporting the Streets Alive programme, a unique collaboration of community organisations from across the Derry~Londonderry Urban Village area.

The plan is to develop a creative approach on a cross community basis celebrating and respecting cultural diversity, community aspirations and a sense of pride for traditional expression in festivals throughout the year.

The collaboration sets out to enable organisations to foster positive community identities by working together across the different communities and cultures through all aspects of project delivery.

The Streets Alive Project got off to a great start with the successful delivery of the summer programme during July and August 2017. Featured events included Ryan Mc Bride Sporting Day, a Fringe Festival in the Fountain area and the Festival of Fire as part of the Féile 2017.

Event report: Summer Féile 2017

The first ever Fringe Festival took place in the Fountain neighbourhood during the annual Apprentice Boys' 'Derry Day' celebrations 2017.

This new celebration introduced a series of challenging talks, cultural discussions and celebrations in the local community and the local arts community. The festival also offered a tour of the city walls followed by an evening of music and dance to enthrall and create a welcoming space where people could feel safe and connected regardless of their background. The Fringe Festival set out critical groundwork to improve relationships between and within communities. Organised by the North West Cultural Partnership, the festival was created to complement the rich festival scene in the city during August, coinciding with the Maiden City Festival and the Gas Yard Féile, it added variety and more choice to the activities already offered by these established events.

The festival received funding from the Urban Villages Initiative, NIHE and the International Fund for Ireland via the Londonderry Bands Forum, to challenge and celebrate diversity in a positive safe setting.

Ryan McBride Sporting Day

A new Sporting event came to the Streets of The Bogside this summer, when the community decided to celebrate the life and achievements of local man and successful sports personality Ryan McBride, who died suddenly earlier this year. As the Captain of Derry City Football Club he was a huge role model for many young people in the area putting time and effort into supporting the community and enhancing local morale through sport.

The day long schedule of sporting activities brought residents young and old, onto the streets to take part in a multitude of activities, bringing fun and interaction to all who participated. Derry

City FC joined in the fun by taking part in football activities with the children and young people from the area. A fantastic turnout saw more than 1,000 people from the Urban Village area on the streets that day, sharing spaces and providing places that were safe for all, and increasing a sense of pride and belonging in the community.

Urban Villages Initiative Local Co-ordinator, Maureen Fox, thanked all who came out to support the event saying, “It was fantastic to see the streets packed with people taking part in activity celebrating community in such a unique way. I have no doubt Ryan McBride played a huge part in instilling a sense of pride in this community, offering sport is a fantastic opportunity to get entire families involved in physical activity.”

Féile 2017 pushes the boundaries in Cultural Diversity with Fire!

Féile 2017 celebrated their 25th Anniversary as Derry-Londonderry's biggest Community Arts and Cultural Festival. This year saw a programme that celebrated cultural diversity, attracting more than 20,000 people of all ages, with lots of different communities coming together from across the city to enjoy the events. The Festival Programme had over 60 events and activities, including music, literature, sport, visual arts, fun days, health, discussions, lectures, community consultation, tours and much more.

The festival took place at multiple venues across the Urban Village area of the Bogside, Bishop Street and the Fountain. It came to a spectacular close at the Gasyard Park, where the Festival of Fire celebration event brought together over 3500 people of all ages. The outdoor event celebrated different cultures with dance, music and pyrotechnics. It was a unique production with displays and performance as never seen before as part of the Féile.

This was the first time ever that a bonfire with a difference formed part of a spectacular fire show during the Féile. The Return of The Phoenix event brought families together in a celebration of the ancient tradition of fire, free from the sectarianism and anti-social behaviour associated with recent bonfires in the area.

Bringing community diversity to the fore, the Festival of Fire focused on celebrating fire in a positive and inclusive manner that challenged old traditions and introduced a new family orientated attitude towards expressing cultural traditions. The night was a huge success, as it welcomed the entire community regardless of age, gender religion or background. A fantastic family night out that had something for all from start to finish.

Activities in the Féile continue to act as an effective intervention around contentious marches, bonfires and anti-social behaviour. Over the past 25 years the festival has successfully reduced inter and intra community tensions through sensitive negotiations on an annual basis.

The Urban Villages Initiative supported this multi-agency approach which has brought together Dove House Community Trust, Bluebell Arts, Gasyard Development Trust, Triax Neighbourhood Management Team, Community Restorative Justice and the Bogside & Brandywell Initiative. Local members of the Men's Shed and young people from Long Tower Youth Club, Pilots Row Youth Club and Youth First from across the area were also involved in the construction and design of the fire sculptures and bonfire.

Bringing community diversity to the fore, the Festival of Fire focused on celebrating fire in a positive and inclusive manner that challenged old traditions and introduced a new family orientated attitude towards expressing cultural traditions.

DEVELOPING CAPITAL PROJECTS

- Foster positive community identities
- Build community capacity
- Improve the physical environment

The Urban Villages Team recently invited proposals for capital projects to inform the development of a pipeline of potential projects in the Derry-Londonderry Urban Village area. These proposals were assessed for strategic fit with Urban Villages aims and outcomes. Projects which met the minimum standard are now being taken forward with community partners to develop design options and associated business cases.

Ultimately, all successful capital projects will address the core aims of the initiative by fostering positive community identities, building community capacity and improving the physical environment in the Urban Village area.
