CYBER SAFETY

Causeway, Coast & Glens PCSP has created another fantastic suite of resources under their award-winning “Don’t Worry, Be #APPY” umbrella with a series of animations about cyber safety for young people.

The PCSP sits on a working group with the NSPCC, Health and Social Care Service, and Education Authority, giving them great insight into the challenges facing young people growing up in a world that’s always online, and the specific vulnerabilities they may face.

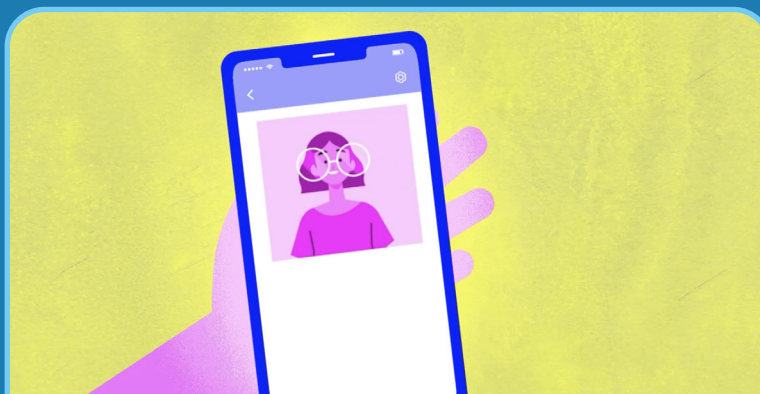

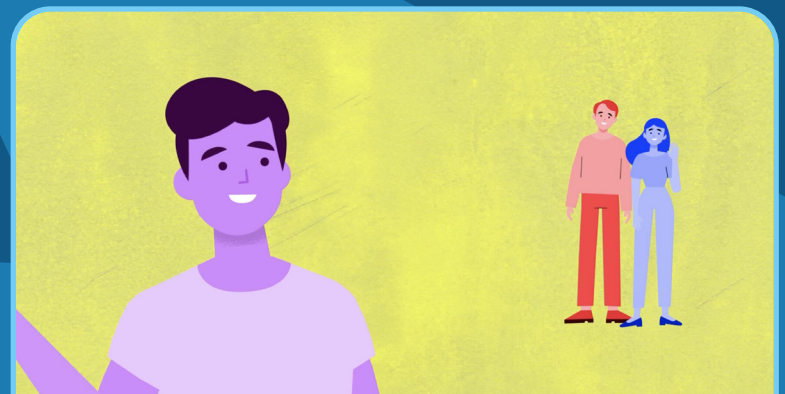

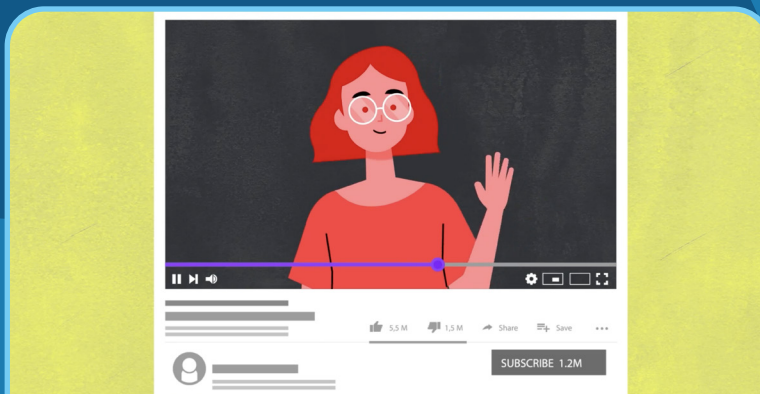

The series is made up of 5 one minute long videos, and was launched to coincide with Internet Safety Week. As well as being posted across social media and promoted by Q Radio, the videos will also become resources used within a number of local primary and post-primary schools and organisations that work with young people.

NEXT-GEN NEIGHBOURHOOD WATCH

A key part of Newry, Mourne & Down PCSP's Neighbourhood Watch Scheme is quarterly engagement events, where many of their 110 Neighbourhood Watch Coordinators get together to discuss issues, suggest solutions and share best practice.

While COVID-19 put the brakes on these meetings, the PCSP recognised their importance and decided to move online, allowing Coordinators and the PCSP to continue engaging with each other and the Scheme to stay sharp.

Sessions were arranged by District Electoral Area and included presentations from PSNI on crime prevention, as well as question and answer sessions between PSNI Officers and Neighbourhood Watch Coordinators to help address concerns in their areas.

"This is a great partnership initiative that can really help people feel safer. I have encouraged all our Neighbourhood Watch link officers to work with their NHW Coordinators, the PCSP Team and our Crime Prevention Officer who have made a real effort to increase the number of No Cold Calling Zones in our area and they have done a fantastic job."

COLD CALLERS GET THE COLD SHOULDER

Armagh, Banbridge & Craigavon PCSP, working alongside their local PSNI Crime Prevention Officer and Neighbourhood Policing Team, have been expanding their District's No Cold Calling Zones.

No Cold Calling Zones are designated areas with visible signage to discourage unwanted callers, and where residents are empowered to refuse cold callers. These zones tackle the fear of crime by allowing older and more vulnerable people who are the most common targets to feel more secure in their homes.

In January 2021, Armagh Banbridge & Craigavon had just 20 established zones – with the help of their Neighbourhood Policing Teams, Neighbourhood Watch, and PCSP engagement events that number has risen to over 100 in just a few months!

SCRUBBING UP WELL

Offensive graffiti is a frequent occurrence across Northern Ireland, whether you live in a rural or an urban area – sometimes it can feel like a fact of life. In Armagh, Banbridge & Craigavon however, the PCSP is taking action.

Residents can report offensive graffiti to the PCSP directly or through statutory agencies. The PCSP then passes the exact location onto their contractors, who get to work removing it.

“Our local playpark was in complete darkness, resulting in an unwelcoming environment for the community and anti-social behaviour. Thanks to the grant, we now have a fully lit play area and park and a noticeable increase in community usage.”

SECURITY GRANTED

To help continue to create safer, shared communities, Fermanagh & Omagh PCSP have established a Security Equipment Grant. Grants are designed to assist groups with the implementation of practical crime prevention initiatives such as installing security fencing, lighting, or replacing external doors for community-owned premises.

A total of £48,620 was given to schools and community groups across the District allowing them to continue their good work in the community knowing their premises are safe.

DOMESTIC ABUSE AWARENESS RAISING

Newry, Mourne & Down PCSP have funded and developed a series of domestic abuse awareness workshops for hairdressers and beauticians, delivered by Women's Aid Armagh Down.

For many people experiencing domestic abuse, their salon is a safe space where they are at ease with people they trust - which gives those working in the salon a unique position to recognise the signs of abuse.

The online sessions focused on how to recognise domestic abuse, the best ways to respond to clients who are experiencing it, and where to refer them for specialist support.

If you've witnessed or are experiencing domestic abuse, help and support is available.
