Consultation Response Booklet

A consultation response booklet is shown. The text on the booklet reads: "Tell us what you think" followed by a photo of a woman in a pink shirt with a thought bubble containing a question mark above her head. Below this is the question: "1. Do you think the idea is a good one?". There are three checkboxes: "Yes", "No", and "Not sure". The "No" checkbox is checked with a blue checkmark. A hand holding a black pen is shown marking the "No" checkbox.

“This is Your Opportunity to Have Your Say!”

A review of communication support services/interpreting services for people who are D/deaf or hard of hearing across Northern Ireland was held and recommended:

“a sign language service for D/deaf and hard of hearing people should be provided to everyone who needs it”

The review included looking at facts and figures including information about the number of people who use interpreting services.

The review suggested a number of ways we could provide interpreting services in the future to make them better for people who use the services.

We are now in the process at looking at these recommendations/suggestions.

However, we now want to ask what you think?

Equality Impact Assessment

So we can make sure we are being fair, Section 75 legislation demands that we look at how any changes will affect different groups of people. This is an Equality Impact Assessment and we consider:

- people of different religions, political opinion, racial group, age, marital status or sexual orientation;
- men and women;
- people with/ or without a disability;
- people with or without dependants (eg children or people they care for)

We looked at this and were able to see that by making the changes there would be a positive (good) impact on the Section 75 groups relating to Age (Older people in particular) and Disability.

Do you agree with the findings of the Equality Impact Assessment?

Please tick  the box

Yes

No

Are there any ways the recommendations could affect OTHER groups?

Other groups include people with a different religious belief, political opinion, race, age, marital status, sexual orientation, gender, disability and if they have people they care for (such as children or parents).

If you have said that the suggestions will affect people in a bad (negative) way, have you any ideas how we could make this better?

Human Rights Law

Article 8 of the Human Rights Act says you have the right to respect for your private and family life, your home, your letters and emails.

This means that your family life and relationships must be respected. You have the right not to have your home or physical life interfered with.

This also means your private letters, emails and text messages cannot be read without you saying it is OK and you can have private time to yourself.

These rights can only be restricted, to stop a crime, protect your health, for public safety or for national security.

Do you have any views on how the recommendations/suggestions might have an impact on this right?

Do you think the recommendations/suggestions might have an impact on people of different religious beliefs, political opinions and racial groups getting on with each other?

Would like to say anything else about the review and recommendations/suggestions?
