WHY IS THE FURTHER EDUCATION COLLEGE BEING INSPECTED?

All further education colleges are inspected regularly by the Education and Training Inspectorate. The purpose of inspection visits is to ensure the highest possible standards of teaching and learning throughout the further education colleges in Northern Ireland. Inspections inform all those who need to know, such as Governing Body, the learners, parents, employers, the general public, the Department for the Economy (the Department), and the Northern Ireland Assembly, how good the further education colleges in Northern Ireland are and what needs to be changed so that they can improve.

WHO INSPECTS?

The further education colleges are inspected by Inspectors working on behalf of the Department. They have experience and qualifications in education and training and many have worked in business and industry. The inspection team may also have Associate Assessors drawn from the wider education and training sectors. The team is led by the Reporting Inspector (RI) who is in charge of the inspection and responsible for the report of the findings.

WHAT HAPPENS DURING AN INSPECTION?

During the inspection, the inspectors:

- observe how the teaching and learning is carried out and talk to the teaching staff and management;
- talk to the learners;
- scrutinise learners' individual learning plans;
- where appropriate, visit and observe learners in the workplace and talk to employers;
- examine portfolios of learners' work; and
- scrutinise a range of documentation provided by the further education college.

They assess:

- how well learners develop and achieve;
- the effectiveness of the teaching, training and learning and assessment;
- how well the learning experiences, programmes and activities meet the needs of the learners and the wider community;
- how well learners are cared for, guided and supported; and
- the effectiveness of the leadership and management in raising achievement and supporting learners.

THE LECTURERS/TUTORS ROLE IN INSPECTION?

Inspectors will observe a sample of teaching and learning sessions taking place during the inspection. They always provide to lecturers/tutors a brief, oral evaluation of the work observed, which normally takes place at the end of the session observed; they do not make reference to the work of individual lecturers/tutors in published inspection reports. They assess the quality of the teaching and learning because of its direct influence on the quality and appropriateness of the learners' experiences and the standards of their work. Inspectors will also hold discussions with some of the lecturers/tutors about their involvement in important activities such as self-evaluation and trainee assessment and progress.

Further details about the inspection activities and the processes involved are outlined in the inspection framework for further education 'Improving Quality: Raising Standards', which can be accessed on our website www.etini.gov.uk.

At the end of the inspection, the RI and members of the inspection team will provide detailed oral feedback to the college's senior management and representative(s) from the Governing body. They will also provide the college with a short written summary of the main findings. At this meeting the Inspectors will outline the performance levels allocated to the areas inspected, clarify any aspects of the findings, and note any issues raised by staff, managers and the Governing Body.

FURTHER EDUCATION COLLEGES OVERALL EFFECTIVENESS

The Education and Training Inspectorate will publish a written report on the further education college, which can be accessed, around two months after the inspection, at www.etini.gov.uk. We use the following overall effectiveness outcomes in reports:

- high level of capacity for sustained improvement;
- capacity to identify and bring about improvement;
- needs to address (an) important area(s) for improvement; and
- needs to address urgently the significant areas for improvement.

If the overall effectiveness of the further education college is evaluated as needs to address (an) important area(s) for improvement or below; or an area of learning has important area(s) for improvement or below, then the Education and Training Inspectorate will undertake follow-up inspection activities within a 12 or 18-month period.

HOW CAN I BE INVOLVED IN THE INSPECTION PROCESS?
